Torah commentary by Rabbi Abrami

As the Israelites approached the border of his land, Balak, King of Moab, became very concerned about the safety of his country. Instead of planning to go to war against the tribes of Israel, however, he resorted to a strategy which was often used in his days: he would curse the Israelites so that his divinities might protect him from a potential enemy.

He sent for Balaam, the prophet, and asked him to curse the Israelites. Balaam, however, responded to Balak that he could do only what God would allow him to do.

Balaam proceeded with the usual ritual and when he entered a trance, he actually blessed the people of Israel, rather than cursing them. And one of the blessings he uttered is recited to this day, whenever we enter a synagogue: "How goodly are your tents, O Jacob, and your dwelling places, O Israel" (Mah tovu). (Numbers 24:5).

This episode teaches us that God sent non-Jewish prophets as well as Jewish ones, which points to the fact that Adonay, our Lord, is a universal God, and not just a tribal god.

If anyone wants a name listed for a mishebeirach, please call the office by Wednesday of the week and the name will go into the bulletin for that week.

A prayer for healing can be said at any time and does not require a minyan. The Amidah (page 113 in Siddur Sim Shalom) shows a format that can be used: "May it be your will, Lord our God and God of our ancestors, to send perfect healing, of body and soul, to _____, along with all others who are stricken".

Mi she-bei-rach a-vo-tei-nu M'kor ha'bra-cha l'i-mo-tei-nu May the source of strength Who blessed the ones before us, Help us find the courage To make our lives a blessing And let us say, Amen	Mi she-bei-rach i-mo-tei-nu M'kor ha-brach-cha l'a-votei-nu Bless those in need of healing With refuah shelemah - The renewal of body, The renewal of spirit And let us say, Amen
