TISHREI - CHESHVAN 5781

October 2020

COVID Pandemic Proves to be a Great Money-Saver!

In "the olden days" i.e. before everything went crazy, the airfare from Phoenix to South African was usually around $1,500 (if I got a good price) and the one-way trip took 40 hours from my house to the home of Lynette and Michael, my sister and brother-in-law in Umhlanga, a town north of Durban. Not because the planes fly slowly but because of airline schedules and connections and it doesn't matter which airline or route is chosen.

Yes, Skype is great, as we've been doing is email and texting and those for years but the best thing that has happened to us this year has been Beth Emeth and Umhlanga Jewish Community going ZOOM. Hers is an Orthodox shul that doesn't use electronics on Shabbat but they have a Kabbalat Shabbat service at 4 p.m. on Friday, which is 7 a.m. in SCW and our Saturday 10 a.m. service starts at 7 p.m. at her end.

So, by the miracles of high-tech we manage to attend shul together and, as we don't mind praying at the "wrong" end of our days, it gives us both much satisfaction and closeness.

What is extra nice is how she has been accepted as part of our Shabbat service, welcomed by Rabbi Rosen and the people attending - and missed on the days she doesn't log in!

Lynette and Rosemary in 2015 at their last in person meeting

Yes, we all long for the day when we will be able to walk through the doors of Beth Emeth and participate in services in "real life" again but in the meanwhile I am delighted to have this substitute which brings these two sisters together AND saves travel time and money. ~ Rosemary Abrami

FROM THE DESK OF MARILYN NEWBERG, PRESIDENT

Dear Members and Guests,

This year has certainly been one of sheer confusion for all of us. I, have rearranged my pantry so many times, now I really can't find anything!!

Although, we know that this virus will be with us for longer than expected, we must respect that fact. We also must take precautions, especially when we feel it's okay to open up Beth Emeth. I think that depends on our climate during the fall and winter months, and if it affects the strength of Covid.

So, while our "family" is separated, there are a few things that we can do to help each other.

The most important is, keeping in contact with other members. Just a phone call can lift the spirits of a member. Try calling and ask if that person can get to the supermarket, doctor or if there is anything else you can do for them. Some of our members are in fact isolated, and could use our kindness. If you should hear that one of our members is not feeling well, just let the office know.

Even my cat Kali has gotten the message. When I speak to Gloria, Kali comes onto the desk. Just before she hangs up, I ask Kali if she wants to say goodnight to her? When I place the phone next to her, she says "meow". I think we all need to take advice from a 4-legged lovvie.

Hacienda de Sarah program is a huge success. As much as they are helping us, we are helping them. They are truly a gift from heaven. Every day, they clean up after themselves, wash down the bathrooms, make sure that any food brought into BE, has a symbol. They do not use our kitchen. You will fall in love with them!

We have 2 new members. I am happy to say, that both want to volunteer.

I want to wish everyone a healthy new year. Every child, grandchild and great-grandchild, extended families, and friends stay well. Finally, let us pray for Israel every day.

FROM THE DESK OF RABBI TRACEE ROSEN

Whew! That's one for the record books.

We survived the High Holy Days in a way none of us ever imagined possible. I, for one, pray that we never have to do it that way again.

I am so grateful for everyone who worked so hard to help us pull our services and programs together, and who scrambled to make some big improvements between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. Overall, we hosted between 60-90 people on Zoom for each service, and an additional 50-70 tuned in via our website and Facebook pages. Special thanks to our advisory committee, Marilyn Newberg, Rhoda Lessner, Arnie Becker, and Tom Behrendt. Thanks to Rosemary Abrami for a beautiful Kol Nidre, Charlie Tarnor & Keren Goldberg for lovely haftarat, and also to Keren for harmonizing with a number of melodies without the Zoom lag effect. We're all grateful to Lou and Jan Sniderman for numerous updates of our website, and for figuring out how to link our Zoom services to Facebook, and then link the Facebook videos to our website. Thanks to all who helped prepare & distribute the Rosh Hashanah kits and Machzorim. And an extra special virtual hug to Tricia Thomas, our dedicated office manager, for the time and effort she put in to helping it all come together. I'm very proud of us all.

The aspect of these surreal days that I personally enjoyed the most were the pre- and post- services shmoozing. Thanks to all of you who just hung out chatting & listening, and provided a time for informal personal connections that we are so terribly missing. We had lots of mistakes & slip-ups, some of the technology didn't work like we had hoped. But through it all, you kept everything warm & haimish, even when we couldn't really be face to face.

We still have Sukkot, Simchat Torah, and lots of Shabbat services to go in this isolation mode. So I invite those of you who finally were able to go online for services, now, to come back for more opportunities to connect. "But, Rabbi," you may ask. "I don't go to shul regularly when it's actually in person. Why should I go when it's only on my computer screen?"

Three reasons:

- No travel time - you don't need to worry about the heat or rain or, eventually, cold.
- You may come to services barefoot, and no one will look at you funny.
- Let's face it, it's fun. And honestly, what else do you have going on? And if you don't enjoy it, you can log off, and if anyone asks, you can tell them you were having computer problems.

Seriously, though, staying active in a faith community, even if it's only online, is a powerful way to fend off feelings of isolation & depression.

John F. Kennedy said, "When written in Chinese, the word 'crisis' is composed of two characters. One represents danger and the other represents opportunity."

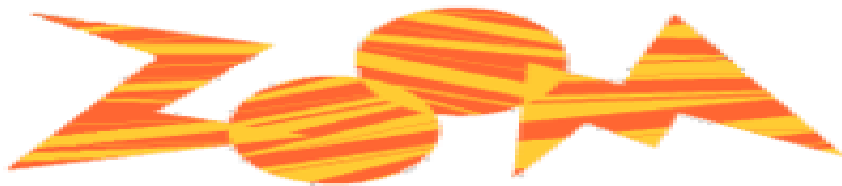

How true his words ring these days. Danger, not only in the sense of the highly contagious and brutal nature of the coronavirus, but also in the toll that the extended shutdown and physical distancing is having on houses of worship. The very activities which bring us together as a community are the ones that generate the highest risk of infection - speaking, singing, praying, congregating, and let's not even think about shofar blowing. There are many small synagogues across the country that are finding themselves shuttered permanently because they no longer are able to sustain the financial support of their members and their community.

So far, we have been very blessed by help from outside sources: the 8 month rental of the back lot, hosting the Hacienda de Sarah program during weekdays, receipt of a Payroll Protection Loan/Grant to cover part of salary expenses, and the rezoning of the back lot for potential sale. These have all been godsend, and we are grateful. But we need members to keep us going. If you are financially able, please be sure to bring your financial commitments current, and if you have been a guest at our services, we respectfully invite you to invest in the continuity of Jewish spiritual life in the West Valley by joining Beth Emeth. I promise, we are the best synagogue value in the Valley.

Please see elsewhere in this Observer information on the new classes being offered this fall, and I invite you to check out our new offerings.

May you be blessed with a healthy, happy, prosperous, and NORMAL year to come.

ABOUT A JEWISH ORGANIZATION

As promised - information to keep you better informed about a Jewish organization. Where better to start than the beginning of the alphabet..

The Aleph Institute was founded in 1981 as a 501(c)(3) certified non-profit Jewish organization dedicated to assisting and caring for the wellbeing of members of specific populations that are isolated from the regular community.

It was founded by Rabbi Sholom Lipskar at the request of the Lubavitcher Rebbe, Rabbi Menachem M. Schneerson.

They address all the religious, medical, social and other needs of Jewish inmates throughout the entire United States. They provide all holiday foods and materials as well as year round Jewish books and materials, visits, courses, etc.

The Aleph Institute also does the same for members of the United States Military who are Jewish.

The Aleph Institute's team has grown from just one Rabbi to more than 65 dedicated staff members and over 500 volunteers, who literally save lives, helping countless individuals during some of the darkest moments of their lives and impacting thousands of families through their work.

A note about the back parking lot from Jordan Colbert, 1st Vice-President . . .

Anyone who has been by the synagogue lately has seen that the fence around the rear property has been taken down and the area left clean. The company that was using it for truck and material storage has finished its contract with APS and pulled up stakes. It was nice receiving their monthly rent checks.

More about that property. The differences with HOAs adjacent to our property have been resolved and the rezoning to R5 has been approved by the Maricopa Board of Supervisors. The property was subsequently listed with a very successful and respected real estate firm, Berkshire-Hathaway. They are currently marketing the land through both their residential and commercial departments. We wish them quick success.

TRANSLITERATION TROUBLE?

If you generally have trouble reading transliterations, try these: “E” sounds like “A” in day, “A” sounds like “A” in father; “I” sounds like “e” in seen; “U” sounds like “oo” in moon; “O” sounds like “O” in go or flow.

One really confusing consonant appears as H (underlined), H with a dot underneath it, KH or CH - all are pronounced the same - think of the Jewish toast “L’Chaim.”

A few people have admitted trouble reading transliterated Hebrew. I often compare it to pronouncing words written in Spanish. Of course, there are always exceptions.

CALLING ALL MEN

It looks like this is a case that the bug got us. Unfortunately, as you may know our activities have been shut down. As it may be our board has likewise suspended its activities.

So far we will still continue with our usual activities such "HOT DOG DAY" and "MOTHER'S DAY" when it is safe to do so at their normal times. We will, of course, make plans for other events which need to be identified.

Our next Board meeting will be at the shul on Thursday July 16 at 10:30 a.m. We will further seek to fill positions and identify upcoming events. Looking forward to seeing you there and working with you.

TOO MANY HOLIDAYS?

As a kid growing up in a Jewish family one of my frequent complaints was that we Jews have too many holidays. October is an excellent example, with Sukkot, Shemini Atzeret and Simchat Torah all in a row.

Each has special rules of Jewish observance, called Halakha, and each has many interpretations.

One source tells us of a minimum Sukkah dimension of twenty-six square inches and more than three feet high. Another source instructs us to erect a Sukkah large enough for a family to eat and live in.

There are rules regarding the construction of a Sukkah, which include the placement of skakh in place of a weatherproof roof. It goes on to say the skakh should be evenly spaced across the Sukkah, should provide more shade than sun but should allow you to see the stars at night - but not so dense that rain will not enter the Sukkah.

According to Jewish Law, all food eaten during Sukkot should be eaten in the Sukkah and meals should begin with a special blessing to G-d "who has commanded us to dwell in the Sukkah."

Sukkot is also an agricultural holiday, celebrating the harvest in the land of Israel. We recite special prayers while holding four varieties of plants in our hands, including the Lulav (palm branch), bound together with myrtle twigs and willow twigs. The fourth plant is the Etrog (citron).

It is unclear whether Shemini Atzeret is independent of Sukkot. The Talmud refers to six signs that Shemini Atzeret is independent and these are interpreted in different ways. They are (1) the different rotation of the priests in the temple; (2) the recital of she-he-heyanu (3) not mitzvah to dwell in the Sukkah or use the four species; (4) calling the day Shemini Atzeret, not Sukkot; (5) a different order of sacrifices; and (6) a different Psalm for the day recited by the Levites. Each of these marks a difference between Shemini Atzeret and Sukkot.

Our observance of Shemini Atzeret includes a prayer for rain and recital of Yizkor - the memorial prayer for the dead.

Simchat Torah is observed on the day after Shemini Atzeret. This marks the completion and beginning again of the cycle of Torah readings. The completion is marked by hak-kafot - circling - that are similar to circling with the four species during Sukkot. In some places there is singing and dancing with the Torah scrolls.

Adult Education - 5781

All classes will be held on Zoom.

* BRAND NEW * Together & Apart: The future of Jewish peoplehood.

Are you puzzled by the changing relationship between American Jews and Israelis? Curious about why non-Jewish Americans have historically displayed such strong support for Israel? Worried that our kids and grandkids don't feel the strong connection that we have always taken for granted? Thanks to the generosity of the Shalom Hartman Institute, we will tackle these issues & more through an exciting online series of study & discussion with some of Judaism's leading thinkers today.

Through video lectures, interviews, and textual sources, this 14-unit course addresses the complex features of Jewish peoplehood and the contemporary challenges to the Jewish people in an era in which we have moved from having no home to having two different, vibrant, homes in Israel and in North America.

Each session will be 90 minutes, including time for group text study & discussion. Materials not covered in each class are available for participants to access online. Rabbi Rosen will offer this class on Wednesdays both in the morning, and as an evening class, if there is sufficient interest. Registration is online. Please call or email the office for details.

Dates: Wednesdays, October 28 - February 3 with breaks for Thanksgiving & New Years

Time: Mornings: 10:30 am - 12 pm AND AGAIN Evenings: 7:00 - 8:30 pm

Cost: Free to BEC members. Suggested donation for non-members, $200 for the series or $15 per session.

Minimum registration is 7, and maximum is 12 to allow for everyone to participate actively.

Talmudic Stories

As an introduction to the study of Talmud, we will study 10 narrative stories, examining the way that these stories inform Jewish values and practices. We will also delve into the structure and methods of Talmudic instruction. All texts will be provided in English. No Hebrew or Aramaic knowledge needed (although it always helps!).

Dates: Thursdays, October 29 - January 14 with breaks for Thanksgiving & New Years

Time: 11:00 am - 12:00 pm

Cost: Free to BEC members, suggested donation of $10 per session for non-members

Weekly Torah Study

Our weekly Torah study group continues. Using The Commentators' Bible, edited by Michael Carasik, we have been working our way verse by verse through stories of Genesis. We are currently studying chapter 2, the story of the Garden of Eden. New students are always welcome.

Dates: Thursdays, starting October 29, with periodic breaks for holidays. Continues through the year

Time: PLEASE NOTE NEW TIME. 10:00 - 11:00 am

Variations in Spelling

Some words in this publication will appear with different spellings. We try to use identical spelling of transliterated Hebrew words but occasionally find differences in our source material which are overlooked when we proofread. An example is "skakh" and "sekakh" to describe the covering over the top of a Sukkah (or Sukka).
